

perfectworldproject

The theme 'A Perfect World' in the light of current events could possibly seem a little optimistic. But optimism and a desire to explore this subject is exactly what this group of artists, performers, musicians and other creative minds have. Off their own backs and without financial support they have decided to put together a tour of events under the working title perfectworldproject #02. May 2003 saw the unpretentious debut project; a perfect world/een perfecte wereld with exhibitions in Arnhem and Nijmegen and after a two year break the organising group has decided it is time to rekindle the fire.

You can expect a variety of work ranging from audio, performance and 3-d installations to photography and also including a diverse video program. Also a book has been published with contributions from the artists taking part and will be on sale at each exhibition. The work will be shown in a total of three different venues and will therefore take on a new meaning in each location. Unlike most exhibitions there was no selection process for this project. No one has depicted what can and can't be shown. Merely the enthusiasm and the desire to create work around this topic is enough to participate in the exhibition. So don't expect to see a slick, pre-meditated production because you'll be disappointed. Do expect to see a group of 25 artists that have, in their own way, decided to express and illustrate their interpretation of the topic 'a perfect world'. If you're still interested then come along to one of the three exhibitions.

Perfectworldproject #02 can be seen in June during the weekend of 10-12 in the Klinker/de Grote broek on the Van Broeckhuysenstraat, number 46 in Nijmegen. A week later, in the weekend of 17-19, it will have travelled to Tilburg to the Hall of Frame on the St Celiliastraat 23, with its final destination being at the Quarantine Gebied, Quarantineweg 1 in Rotterdam during the weekend of 24-26.

De opening will be on Friday evening at 20.00 in all locations. Doors open at 19.00 hours. Furthermore the exhibition is open between the hours of 13.00 and 18.00 on both Saturday and Sunday of each weekend.
